DETAILED ACTION

Status of Claims

1. This action is in reply to the Preliminary amendment filed on 12-14-2004
2. Claim 8 has been amended.
3. Claims 32-49 have been added.
4. Claims 12-14 and 17-31 have been canceled.
5. Claims 1-11, 15, 16 and 32-49 are subject to Restriction requirement.

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-4 and 32-34, drawn to a system for displaying market transaction information, classified in class 705, subclass 37.
 - II. Claims 5-8 and 36-38, drawn to a method for displaying market transaction information in a chart, classified in class 705, subclass 37.
 - III. Claims 9-11 and 40-41, drawn to drawn to a method for displaying market transaction information grouped as auction events, classified in class 705, subclass 37.
 - IV. Claims 15-16 and 42-49, drawn to a method for displaying market transaction information to determine a trade, classified in class 705, subclass 37.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions I and II are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product. See MPEP § 806.05(h). In the instant case the product described as Group I can be used for different processes, such as the different processes described as Group II-IV.

3. Inventions I and III are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product. See MPEP § 806.05(h). In the instant case the product described as Group I can be used for different processes, such as the different processes described as Group II-IV.

4. Inventions I and IV are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product. See MPEP § 806.05(h). In the instant case the product described as Group I can be used for different processes, such as the different processes described as Group II-IV.

5. Inventions II and III are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different designs, modes of operation, and effects (MPEP § 802.01 and § 806.06). In the instant case, the different inventions conclude if trading is upward or downward by two completely different methods. Invention II looks at a chart and Invention III looks at the statistics of auction events.

6. Inventions II and IV are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different designs, modes of operation, and effects (MPEP § 802.01 and § 806.06). In the instant case, the different inventions result in different effects though different design and mode of operation. Invention II concludes if trading is upward or downward. Invention IV decides weather or not to make a trade by considering the market and the position of the user.

7. Inventions III and IV are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different designs, modes of operation, and effects (MPEP § 802.01 and § 806.06). In the instant case, the different inventions result in different effects though different design and mode of operation. Invention II concludes if trading is upward or downward. Invention IV decides weather or not to make a trade by considering the market and the position of the user.

8. Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious burden on the examiner if restriction is not required because the inventions require a different field of search (see MPEP § 808.02), restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

9. Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious burden on the examiner if restriction is not required because the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art due to their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

10. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Thuan Tran whose telephone number is 571-270-1832. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday-Friday 8:30-5:00.
